MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Joseph Darling
 Assistant for International Trade and Investment
 Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense

SUBJECT : The Disposition of Saudi Arabia's 1974 Investable Surplus

1. The attached tables are in response to your recent request for information on the disposition of Saudi Arabia's 1974 investable surplus. A copy of ER IR 75-9, which you also requested, is included.
2. As Table 1 indicates, Saudi Arabia had an estimated current account surplus, excluding grant-type assistance, of $27.4 billion in 1974. Export earnings totaled some $31.6 billion while payments for imports of goods and services totaled $4.2 billion. Not all of this surplus was available last year, however. Because of an estimated $6.8 billion lag in payments by international oil companies, the available surplus was only $20.6 billion.
3. Table 2 provides a breakdown of Saudi Arabia's investable surplus. About $16.1 billion, or almost 80%, was channeled into foreign official assets by the Saudi Arabian Monetary Agency. Approximately $1.8 billion of these official assets, or 6% of the total, was invested in the IMF oil facility and World Bank bonds. An additional 10% was held by Saudi public corporations. Grant-type assistance and disbursements to producer-inspired aid institutions -- such as the Islamic Development Bank -- accounted for an additional 11% of the total. Private capital flows and errors and omissions account for the remainder.
